The SEC 2020 is going to look much different from previous conferences. To accommodate schedules, the SEC will occur for five weeks during September and October. On Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:00 AM - 1:00 PM, Tlingit & Haida will host the SEC via Zoom for approximately four hours each day.

Every year, the SEC brings together Southeast tribes, natural resource professionals, agencies, and organizations within our region to learn and address common environmental priorities. SEC 2020 will provide participants with information and training on transboundary mining, climate change, harmful algal blooms, tribal conservation districts, oil spill/response, brownfield sites, and more.

This invitation is extended to all Southeast Alaska tribal organizations, communities, and environmental professionals alike to join us for the SEC 2020. Please register for the SEC to be added to the digital listserv for participants and presenters. To register, please complete the registration form and submit to Lindsey Pierce (lpierce@cchita-nsn.gov).

We look forward to seeing you at the conference! Gunalchéesh / Háw'aa (Thank You).
